

Table of Contents

5	Prelude Paulo de Assis
	Part I: Score and Idea
12	Chapter 1 What I say and What I do: The Role of Composers' Own Performances of Their Scores in Answering Our Research Questions about Their Works and How We Should Interpret Them Jeremy Cox
33	Chapter 2 "The Mysterious Whether Seen as Inspiration or as Alchemy": Some Thoughts on the Limitations of Notation Paul Roberts
39	Chapter 3 Artistic Practice, Methodology, and Subjectivity: The "I Can" as Practical Possibility and Original Consciousness Andreas Georg Stascheit
47	Chapter 4 From Territories to Transformations: Anton Webern's Piano Variations Op. 27 as a Case Study for Research in-and-through Musical Practice Darla Crispin
61	Interlude I: Exploring Musical Integrity and Experimentation Kathleen Coessens
	Part II: Mapping the Interface
68	Chapter 5 Poem as Score: Finding Melodies for Unnotated Troubadour Songs Robin T. Bier
83	Chapter 6 Sound Drifts: The Phenomenon of Stylistic Change in the Interpretation of Fixed Texts Anna Scott
94	Chapter 7 Pression Revised: Anatomy of Sound, Notated Energy, and Performance Practice Tanja Orning
110	Chapter 8 The In(visible) Sound Miguelángel Clerc
122	Interlude II: The Score on Shifting Grounds Kathleen Coessens

Part III: Extending the Boundaries

- 130 Chapter 9
The Beginning of Happiness: Approaching Scores in Graphic and Text Notation
Virginia Anderson
- 143 Chapter 10
Closing the Gap between Sound and Score in the Performance of Electroacoustic Music
Gregorio García Karman
- 165 Chapter 11
Notational Perspective and Comprovisation
Sandeep Bhagwati
- 178 Interlude III: The Score beyond Music
Kathleen Coessens

Part IV: Choreographies of Sound

- 184 Chapter 12
A Physical Interpretation of a Score in a Listening Attitude
Susanne Jaresand and Maria Calissendorff
- 195 Chapter 13
Score as Relationship: From Scores to Score Spaces to Scorescapes
Yolande Harris
- 206 Chapter 14
Drawing and the Score
Anne Douglas
- 218 Postlude
Kathleen Coessens
- 221 Personalia
- 227 Index